

Mellow Yeller

Overview:

A lot of people need an external resource to be able to calm themselves down. My site allows the user to track and pour out their feelings in a constructive manner. Whether they feel like writing an entry to keep or remove with a satisfying animation (explosion or melting) or reading an uplifting message. It also includes a mood tracker to allow them to see when they were the most upset.

Wireframes of the major views:

Mobile Home: <https://wireframe.cc/NK2fNL>

Desktop Home: <https://wireframe.cc/KXwDB4>

Mobile Entries: <https://wireframe.cc/1mUVDa>

Desktop Entries: <https://wireframe.cc/IwUnj4>

Mobile Affirmations: <https://wireframe.cc/5Hmy65>

Desktop Affirmations: <https://wireframe.cc/0gkeKE>

Mobile Mood Tracker: <https://wireframe.cc/SOaXAY>

Desktop Mood Tracker: <https://wireframe.cc/6SbOgg>

Data sources: localStorage and local JSON file.

Initial Module list: read.mjs, write.mjs, message.mjs, tracker.mjs, headfoot.js, main.js

Colors/Typography:

Color Palette: <https://colors.co/171d1c-ad4d1f-c2a83e-f2f2f2-384d48>

Fonts: Merienda- Body | Satisfy- Headings

Schedule:

W04: This assignment and basic setup (files, folders, and links)

W05 Sun-Wed: Layout and style the pages

W05 Thurs-Sat: Animation(s), Header/Footer js and start mood tracker

W06 Sun-Wed: Finnish mood tracker and Read/write JSON

W06 Thurs-Sat: Message randomizer, main.js, and clean up CSS

W07: Loose ends/ unfinished work

Trello Board: <https://trello.com/b/kB6r04gY/mellow-yeller>